

DPT iPad Program Device Policy

Wheeling Jesuit University has issued an iPad to you as an incoming Doctoral of Physical Therapy student as recorded by the Director of Physical Therapy. A record has been created and stored with Information Technology Services listing the serial number of each iPad and the student to whom the iPad has been issued. The issued iPad is property of Wheeling Jesuit University. Upon completion of the Doctoral of Physical Therapy program as certified by the Director of Physical Therapy, the University will transfer ownership of the recorded iPad to you. The Director of Physical Therapy will notify Information Technology Services and you once the transfer of ownership is complete. Until this time, the University reserves the right to request return of the recorded iPad.

The University will hold you liable for damages to the iPad. The AppleCare+ for iPad service fee will be your responsibility. The University reserves the right to bill you any fees and damages associated with repairs and/or replacement of the iPad. You may use the AppleCare+ for iPad warranty to fix damages according to Apple's Terms and Conditions.

Please direct warranty and repair questions to the Information Technology Services department at Wheeling Jesuit University. You may submit service requests online at <http://www.wju.edu/its/helpdesk>. Our Apple Certified Technicians can assist students with the repair process.

Terms and more information about AppleCare+ for the iPad can be found online at <http://www.apple.com/support/products/ipad.html>

This policy may be updated without prior notice. You can review the latest version of this Wheeling Jesuit University policy online at <http://www.wju.edu/its/policies/default.asp>
